

Village of Genoa receives recognition

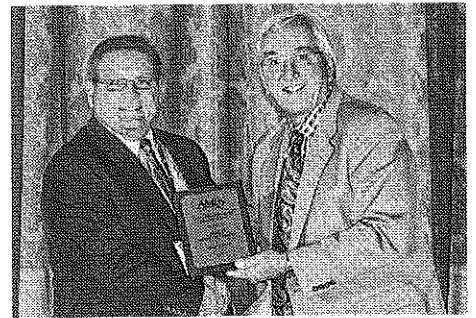

Submitted story

GENOA — The Village of Genoa was honored for its achievements during the past year at the 2014 AMP/OMEA Annual Conference Oct. 27-30 in Columbus.

Genoa Municipal Utilities received a System Improvement Honorable Mention for the three-phase meter conversion project. Meters were replaced for commercial and industrial customers to provide more accurate and reliable meter readings.

Genoa Municipal Utilities' commitment to safety was recognized with an AMP Safety Award in the transmission and distribution category. The award recognizes no time loss due to a reportable accident.

The annual conference was attended by nearly 425 municipal officials and industry representatives, with speakers from various national organizations.

SUBMITTED PHOTO

Genoa Village Councilman Ken Harsanje, left, accepts award from American Municipal Power Inc. president/CEO Marc Gerken.

SUBMITTED PHOTO

Genoa Village Administrator Kevin Gladden accepts an award from American Municipal Power Inc. director of member safety Kyle Weygandt.